MAN ARRESTED IN DEATH PROBE

POLICE investigating the “unexplained” death of a young woman found severely injured on a Harlow street have arrested a man on suspicion of murder.

The victim, believed to be in her early 20s, was discovered by the roadside near the junction of Howard Way and The Stow shortly before 3am yesterday (Wednesday).

She was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital where doctors battled to save her life but was pronounced dead shortly afterwards.

By VICKY LANE

A 23-year-old man was later arrested on suspicion of murder and is currently being questioned in police custody.

Although details of the woman's identity will not be released by police until a post mortem examination has been completed, the Star understands she was heavily pregnant.

Howard Road remained cordoned off yesterday afternoon while forensic teams continued to collect evidence.

Residents living near the area where the woman was discovered spoke of their shock at the incident.

Chloe Hickman (20), of Halling Hill, said: “Harlow seems to be getting worse and worse. Not a lot goes on around here and I would never expect something like this to happen right on my doorstep, especially to someone around the same age as me. It is really worrying.”

Another resident, who asked not to be named, added: “There seems to be quite a lot of trouble in this area; you have to be careful.”

Police have urged anyone with information to contact officers from the Kent and Essex Serious Crime Directorate at Harlow police station on 101.

ANIMAL welfare inspectors have launched an investigation after a badly-injured puppy was dumped outside a Harlow veterinary surgery.

The six-month old Staffordshire Bull Terrier – which had a broken hip and paw and was suffering from severe internal bleeding – was discovered cowering in a laundry basket outside Toddbrook Vets in Harberts Road last Tuesday night.

As the surgery was closed the female pup was taken to the night clinic run by JAC Kew in Wych Elm, where vets were left with no option but to put her to sleep.

According to head nurse Nicola Gunter, it was impossible to determine how the puppy had sustained her injuries.

"We can't speculate on the cause of her injuries but we just know that they were so serious she wouldn't have made it through the night," she told the Star.

"She had a fractured femur, a fractured foot and severe internal bleeding. The kindest thing we could do was to put her out of her misery."

"The only person who knows exactly what happened to this poor puppy is the person who left her outside the vets in Toddbrook."

Story by CHRIS MOSS

News Editor chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

An RSPCA spokeswoman confirmed an investigation was under way into the events leading up to the puppy's death and appealed for anyone with information to come forward.

"At this stage it is unclear how the puppy sustained her injuries," she said. "It may be that she managed to escape from her owners' house before getting hit by a car, in which case we would appeal for the driver of the vehicle to contact us."

"However, if evidence suggesting the puppy was beaten or abused comes to light, a post-mortem will be carried out with the view to prosecuting those responsible."

News of the puppy's plight has led to the creation of a Facebook group – 'Justice for Wicker The Pup' – which has already attracted more than 1,500 members.

The forum was set up by animal lover Danielle Johnson, who said: "Someone somewhere knows what happened to this poor puppy. I don't want to let whoever is responsible for this to get away with it."

"God knows what the poor little thing went through before being dumped and left to die. It's heart-breaking."

Anyone with information about the puppy should contact the RSPCA on 0300 1234 999.

HEARTBREAKING: RSPCA officials are appealing for help to ascertain how the puppy sustained its injuries (s)

Pop princesses up for award after taking the US by storm

THEY may be some way off becoming teenagers themselves but Harlow's pint-sized pop princesses have proved age is no barrier to success after being nominated for a Teen Choice Award.

Cousins Sophia Grace Brownlee (9) and Rosie McClelland (5) – pictured right with three members of boy band The Wanted – have been nominated in the 'Web Stars' category of the annual Fox Network awards held in California to honour the biggest achievements in areas such as music, film and television.

A YouTube video of the girls received almost 40 million hits last year and they have continued to dominate the online world as clips of them appearing on the Ellen DeGeneres Show frequently top web polls.

The singing sensations will be up against the likes of Ryan Beatty – dubbed the next Justin Bieber – and online beauty gurus Elle and Blair Fowler at the award ceremony next month.

Rosie's mother Danielle said they first learned of the girls' nomination on Twitter.

"I wasn't sure if it was real at first as a lot of things get made up on Twitter," she said. "Carly [Sophia Grace's mother] and I were sharing the school run at the time so it wasn't until we got home that the news was confirmed."

Sophia Grace's dad Dominic said the nomination proved how well the girls were doing over in the States, adding: "Who knows, with all their fans voting every day they have a great chance of winning."

According to their parents the girls, who are currently back in Harlow, have re-adjusted to their old life well but are hoping to return to America for the awards.

"They have a great chance in their category but are up against some really talented people so we really hope everyone gets behind our princess team and votes for Sophia Grace and Rosie," said Danielle.

"This is all a dream and we really want to say a huge thank-you for everyone's support so far. It really means the world."

Anyone aged 14-17 can vote by signing up to the Teen Choice website at www.teenchoiceawards.com.

Walker hit by lorry dies from injuries

A PEDESTRIAN who suffered serious injuries after being struck by a lorry on the A414 approaching Harlow more than two weeks ago has died in hospital.

The accident happened on the west-bound carriageway near the junction with Eastwick Hall Lane in the early hours of Saturday, June 9.

The pedestrian – named as Michael Bruce from Bishop's Stortford – was hit by a Tesco truck.

This week police appealed for witnesses to contact them.

Sergeant Peter Scholes said: "We are appealing to anyone who saw any pedestrians on the carriageway in the early hours of the morning."

"We are also keen to trace the driver of a small black car with the letters BMA as the last part of the registration number. This car came out of Eastwick Hall Lane before turning on to the A414."

Anyone who can help with the inquiry should call the non-emergency number of 101 quoting log number 150 of the 9th of June.

By VICKY LANE

TEACHER Julian Ruddick is gearing up for his next life challenge despite being in remission from a devastating auto-immune disease for just seven months.

With help from colleagues and pupils at Passmores Academy, Julian (40) is preparing to cycle, run and row more than 320 miles in five days to raise £100,000 to help other people suffering from Lupus – a condition which causes the immune system to attack the body.

Julian, lead teacher of student engagement, said it was when doctors advised him he would have to retire from work permanently that he vowed not to let the disease win.

"Having always been an extremely healthy and active person it is hard to put into words just how demoralising it is to suddenly not have the strength to do anything," said Julian.

"To then be told at the age of 39 that I'd have to retire was awful. It was at that point I promised myself I would return to teaching one day and the day I did I would organise something massive to help raise greater awareness and funds for further research into this debilitating disease. Fortunately this is the stage I am at now."

All money raised from the challenge – dubbed The Lupus 5 – will be split between three charitable groups: St Thomas' Hospital in Westminster, which is a world leader on the condition, Alderhey Hospital in Liverpool, which is a front runner for caring for children affected by the disease, and national organisation Lupus UK.

The challenge will start on September 13 when Julian, joined by students and colleagues, will cycle 125 miles from the Alderhey Hospital to Leicester and then a further 125 miles from Leicester to St Thomas' Hospital the next day.

On day three the team will row 21 miles along the River Thames and on day four Julian will run a marathon from Twickenham to Waltham Abbey. Finally, on day five, he will tackle a second marathon from Waltham Abbey to Passmores Academy in Tracys Road. Members of Fit4Less gym in Terminus Street are also raising money for Julian's cause by taking part in a five-day ironman fitness challenge.

"It is certainly going to be tough doing the challenge and also raising the £100,000," said Julian, "but I am lucky to have such incredible support from everyone at Passmores.

"All the staff and students are really rallying behind us to put on fundraising events and get sponsors on board so I know together we'll get there."

He added: "I am just so happy to be in this position; it feels like I'm being given another chance at life.

"We don't want this to just be a Passmores thing, we want it to be a Harlow thing and hope as many people as possible will get involved."

Golfers chip in to help hospice

GOLFERS helped raise a large wedge of cash for St Clare Hospice during an annual tournament.

The 18th St Clare Hospice Golf Day, sponsored by Weston Homes, saw 50 teams go head-to-head at Stoke by Nayland Golf Club in Leavenhath.

"I am delighted that we have been able to raise a total of £45,000 this year," said Bob Weston, chairman and chief executive of Weston Homes. "I know it will greatly help the hospice continue the fantastic work that they do all year round."

St Clare chief executive Tanya Curry added: "To achieve that amount in one day is a huge achievement.

"We are so fortunate to have such great continued support from Weston Homes."

Launch of new support group

A NATIONAL organisation helping people with special needs to live an independent life has launched a new support group in Harlow.

Charitable group Batias offers different types of advocacy support to people with learning difficulties to help them increase their opportunities in life.

Although they have been established for 20 years it is the first time they have ventured into the West Essex area.

"The project is based on advocacy, promoting people's choice and independence," explained spokesperson Alicia Quispe-Flores.

"The group we are running at the Harlow Leisurezone is focused on self-advocacy where our members are encouraged to discuss topics important to them, provide peer support and advocate for themselves by finding out information and bringing it back to the group."

As well as looking for more clients to take advantages of its services, the group – which meets one Friday a month from 1.30-2.30pm – is always looking to recruit more volunteers. For more details, visit www.batias.com.

St Clare lottery

THE winner of the £1,000 prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, June 22 is ticket holder 506693, who lives in Harlow.

The second prize of £100 goes to the holder of ticket number 699471, who also lives in Harlow.

Charities combine resources to help victims of war

MEDICAL supplies, school books and building materials are some of the items on which way to people in war-torn African countries after two charities combined their services.

The Harvey Centre-based Phoenix Resource Centre, which specialises in collecting clean, reusable waste items, teamed up with West African Relief to form a working partnership.

As a result they sent off their first shipment containing 30 tons of essential supplies a couple of weeks ago.

"We first approached the Phoenix Resource Centre expecting to just begin discussions about how a relationship between the two charities could work," explained WAR co-founder Gel Page.

"But trustee Andy Richardson was brilliant. Straight away he asked if we wanted to form a partnership and told us what the centre could supply. Our groups just seemed to match."

Gel said they hope the first container which has been sent to Sierra Leone, a country still recovering from a decade of civil war, will be the first shipment of some 250 tons of equipment sent to Africa every year.

"The containers provide things that many take for granted and yet are so essential," Gel said. "It is about providing the items necessary to create a sustainable form of life."

WAR is now looking for local businesses willing to provide vans to assist transport supplies. To offer help, email info@westafricanrelief.com or visit www.westafricanrelief.com.

Fire crews to strike today as talks over service cuts break down

FIREFIGHTERS across Essex are due to take legal industrial action today (Thursday) in protest at proposed cuts.

The eight-hour walkout is the first of five planned by members of the Fire Brigades Union, who claim Essex Fire Authority's cost-cutting plans could result in the loss of one-in-five frontline crews.

A last-ditch attempt to avert the strike failed after conciliatory talks between the FBU, Essex Fire Authority and the Advisory, Conciliation and Arbitration Service (ACAS) broke down on Monday.

And unless a compromise deal can be reached, the union has resolved to press ahead with further walkouts on July 7, July 18, August 18 and October 18 after members voted overwhelmingly in favour of industrial action earlier this month.

Alan Chinn-Shaw, Essex FBU chairman, said the decision to go on strike had not been taken lightly. "This is about cuts to frontline firefighters and changes imposed on firefighters," he said.

"We've had enough and the cuts are now directly impacting on public and firefighter safety."

"The cuts and impositions continue while the fire authority says it wants talks. That simply undermines the talks before they start."

"We have been very reluctant to set strike dates in the hope the fire authority will see some sense. Strike dates have now been set but there is still time to make progress and reach an agreement and we hope the fire authority takes that opportunity."

Fire service chiefs claim that disruption during the periods of industrial action will be kept to a minimum.

According to the authority, more than 100 firefighters across the county have signed up to "resilience contracts" guaranteeing their availability during times of severe staff shortages, while dozens of retained crews will also be on hand to provide cover during the strikes.

Assistant Chief Fire Officer Dave Bill said: "Clearly the best result for all sides and for the Essex community is for no strike action to take place and for the union to accept the offer of mediation."

"However, the service has a responsibility to ensure the safety of our communities and that is a responsibility we take seriously and one we are not prepared to leave to chance with the threat of strike action looming."

"We have an emergency fleet on standby and professional, trained Essex firefighters and officers ready to deliver a service countywide."

PAH pays damages for failure of nursing care

THE widow of a man who died after contracting MRSA at Princess Alexandra Hospital has received an out-of-court settlement after the trust acknowledged "failings" in its duty of care.

Angela Holbrook's claim for damages following the death of her husband Dennis in 2007 was initially defended by PAH. But the hospital backed down after an investigation by the health ombudsman found staff culpable of a string of medical and administrative errors.

Criticising the hospital for poor record-keeping, lack of proper patient observation, delays in treatment and poor communication, the independent watchdog said the trust had provided "wholly inadequate" nursing care to Mr Holbrook, who fell seriously ill within six days of his admission in November 2007.

Doctors initially suspected his

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

fever was linked to an infection and requested barrier nursing, involving special hygiene precautions. But according to Mrs Holbrook, her husband's nurse told her she didn't need to use either an apron or gloves when tending to him.

When blood cultures revealed Mr Holbrook had contracted MRSA, an incident report recorded it was likely the bug had been caused by the changing of an intravenous tube by unsupervised medical students.

Mr Holbrook's heart then began to suffer as a result of the septicaemia but despite the fact he needed close monitoring, the investigation found vital signs were sometimes not recorded by staff.

Concerned by the rapid deterioration of his heart, doctors recommended an electric shock treatment designed to reset the heart to a normal rhythm but Mr Holbrook was initially reluctant. When he changed his mind on the morning of November 26, Mrs Holbrook immediately informed staff but it was not until the cardiologist attended her husband as part of his scheduled rounds that doctors knew of his decision.

Although he was given initial treatment the same morning, he died later that day without ever undergoing the procedure.

Mrs Holbrook's legal representative – David Kerry of the medical negligence team at Harlow-based firm Attwater – said hospital staff had been responsible for an "appalling catalogue of errors".

"Mr Holbrook was a sick man when he was admitted to hospital and suffered greatly as a result of the treatment he received there," he said.

"The ombudsman's report listed significant failures by the hospital. Their own action plan reviewing the circumstances admits a number of failures."

A trust spokeswoman said lessons had been learned and significant improvements had been made to patient safety since Mr Holbrook's death.

"While the ombudsman did not find significant failures in Mr Holbrook's medical treatment, a full investigation was undertaken by the trust after his death to ascertain where lessons could be learned," she said.

"Although it could not be established how Mr Holbrook contracted MRSA, following that investigation we acknowledged failures in Mr Holbrook's care and improved processes and staff training to avoid any recurrence of this incident."

"We are now nationally recognised as having one of the lowest MRSA rates in the country, a fundamental measure in ensuring good patient safety."

HARLOW Council has shown its support for British troops ahead of Saturday's Armed Forces Day by raising a commemorative flag outside the Civic Centre.

Council chairwoman Maggie Hulcoop was watched by representatives of service organisations as she unfurled the flag on Monday.

Rev Sue Knight from St Paul's Church then read prayers before the flag was raised as the National Anthem played.

Councillor Hulcoop said: "It is important that Harlow shows its support to the men and women in the Armed Forces who represent our country across the world with commitment and dedication."

"Raising the flag shows our support to the brave servicemen and women, both past and present, and recognises the large number of people whose lives are linked to the Armed Forces including cadets, serving personnel and veterans."

"We also pay tribute to those who have lost their lives in conflict and those who have suffered permanent disability in the cause of taking part in active duty."

SIR, Travelling throughout Harlow, it pains me to have to say that this town has had its day. The grass verges, roundabouts and grassed areas are an eyesore.

Even where the grass has been cut the cuttings are left in large clumps strewn across the pavements and in the gutters. And where there are lampposts and street signs the grass around them is left uncut. Look at the new 'doughnut' roundabout, the first junction the motorist/visitor sees on the way into Harlow on the main A414. It is a disgrace with litter, overgrown grass and suchlike.

There are many other towns in the area such as Stevenage, Welwyn, Hertford that easily put our town to shame.

I have lived here for 60 years and over that time it has gone from being very good to what it is today – unsightly, untidy and scruffy.

R.D. Lucia
Coppice Hatch, Harlow

Welcome to the green and overgrown jungle

SIR, How green is our town? Very! It looks like the grass hasn't been cut in months and is around 18 inches high along the main roads.

I know there have been cutbacks but these places could be cut with mechanical lawnmowers, not like in the past when men followed their machines on foot.

Perhaps it is a ploy by the council to let it grow until the autumn and then cut it as straw which would save the town money on next year's council tax.

The town is green jungle which is a shame. When you look back a few years all grassed areas were cut regularly which made the town look clean and tidy.

Job of a bus driver once carried status

SIR, Further to the letters in response to the unfortunate lady's recent experience on a local bus, I drove buses in Bishop's Stortford, Harlow and London in the 1970s and 1980s.

State of grassed areas is verging on the unsightly

Photo of the week

LAST Thursday was the longest day and the official start of summer, but for this week's photo we have to look back a few months to the chilly months of winter.

It was sent in by Faith Jackson, of Jerounds, Harlow. "I know this wasn't taken last week but I love this photo of Harlow taken in February of Abercrombie Way in the frost as I think it looks a little surreal," she explained.

Do you have a photograph taken in Harlow that you think is good enough to feature in the Photo of the Week section? If so, we would love to see it.

Email a high resolution copy in jpeg format – along with a brief description of your photograph along with when and where it was taken and your name and address – to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Please insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line.

Unionisation of the larger companies ensured the job attracted at least a reasonable level of pay, but more than that the job carried a status and was sought after. Because of this, there was a lower level of staff turnover than now, many drivers spending many years or their whole working lives with one of the larger companies.

Working conditions had to be relatively good – and the job secure – to achieve this. Bus companies could afford to be more selective when recruiting while a high level of supervision both on the road and at garage level maintained high standards of operation and discipline.

All this changed in the 1980s when the government, determined to drive down costs and subsidies, introduced legislation forcing compulsory competitive tendering. The company tendering the lowest won the contract but had to reduce their costs in order to do this and to keep the tender.

Working conditions and wages went into a downward spiral from which they have never recovered. Inspectors disappeared, garage maintenance facilities were reduced or completely done away with and drivers had to become vehicle cleaners as well. Vehicle ages began to lengthen alarmingly, with an increasing number of decrepit and obsolete buses working well past their sell-by date.

Although London was also affected by much of this, even the government of the day shrank back from allowing the free-for-all to extend there and a modicum of control over operations and standards was allowed to remain. The boundary of this control stopped (and still stops) well short of Harlow, though.

The end result is that bus driving is no longer a sought after, stable and long-term career but has become more of a last resort when nothing better is available. The job carries no social status whatsoever anymore.

The pay is poor when one considers the amount of responsibility carried and the basic working week has lengthened considerably from the level reached when I was employed in the industry.

Peter Carr
West Road, Sawbridgeworth

They're not as bad as some make out

SIR, I read in last week's Star more letters concerning SM Coaches. I travel on Arriva buses on a daily basis and I would like to state the drivers are just as bad.

Not only are some of the drivers rude, their driving leaves a lot to be desired. I have been on buses that have hit kerbs, gone over speed humps too fast and also gone round corners too fast.

So I am prepared to stick up for the SM drivers because the few times I have used their buses I found them to be friendly and the driving has never been as bad as people are making out in the letters you print.

Labour's U-turn on crematorium

SIR, The front page story in last week's Star announced the start of the refurbishment of Parndon Wood Crematorium, with Labour councillor and portfolio holder Jon Clempner enthusiastically supporting the investment by Westerleigh.

Oh dear, has he not read the script? Just a year ago Labour councillors were vehemently opposing this project, branding it as part-privatisation and calling-in the Conservative decision to secure a private sector partner to manage the facility and invest in it.

Perhaps Jon and Labour are trying to take the credit – or do we have a policy u-turn already?

Michael Hardware
Grealy Brays, Harlow

Was call to police a waste of my time?

SIR, I was interested to read in the Star last week the article headlined 'Crime falls but public urged to remain vigilant'.

About five-six months ago I found a large pair of bolt cutters dumped in a bush near my house. In the few weeks prior to this we had a couple of burglaries in this area and with this in mind I took them home and rang the police.

I thought they might have some DNA or some evidence that would be useful. The young lady I spoke to didn't really seem too concerned but, after some persuasion, agreed to get them collected. She said someone would call for them within a couple of days.

As I am a pensioner I don't work so therefore I'm around at home for long periods. No-one has ever collected them and they still sit in my cupboard.

This makes a bit of a mockery of Neighbourhood Watch, which I fully support. Should I waste my time or money on phone calls when this is the response I receive?

CAB's gratitude to dance group

SIR, We at Harlow Citizens Advice Bureau are writing to express our extreme gratitude to DanceFusion – a locally based mixed age dance group – for the funds they raised on April 21 by getting sponsored to dance in the Harvey Centre.

The centre was packed out on the day with families and friends of the 80-plus young dancers and supporters of our charity. The air was electric and the performance was fantastically choreographed by Kerri-Ann Trowsdale and co-ordinated with the help of her team of older girls who worked so hard throughout the event.

The young people of DanceFusion, with the help of their friends and families and the collection money, raised on the day an overwhelming sum of almost £2,000. This will be split between the group and the CAB.

A big thank-you should also go to the staff of the Harvey Centre, who allowed the event to be staged and took such great care of everyone on the day.

Well done to everyone involved; let's hope we can do it all again next year.

Lou Moon
on behalf of Friends of Harlow CAB

Thanks to MP for continued support

New service helping PAH to transform patient care

A NEW service which has helped thousands of people avoid unnecessary hospital admissions has "transformed" patient care.

Since its launch last June, the ambulatory care service at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital has treated more than 12,000 patients, preventing thousands of expensive and non-essential overnight stays.

Staffed by specialist nurses and acute medicine consultants, the unit was set up to ease the strain on the accident and emergency department by evaluating and treating patients not requiring urgent care.

Sam Elden-Lee, head of operations for the emergency department, said the service freed up beds for those in real need of hospital treatment.

"For many, setting up the ambulatory care department was a step into the unknown, but we felt sure it would make a huge difference to patient care," he said. "I can safely say it has."

"The clinicians and consultants in the unit are specially trained to recognise those patients who, with targeted treatment, can be discharged home without being admitted to the hospital overnight."

"It's better for the patient and it allows the trust to admit those patients that really need the bed."

Boy, 12, hurt in garage roof fall

FIREFIGHTERS were called to a derelict garage in Bushey Croft, Harlow, on Sunday morning after a 12-year-old boy fell through the roof of the building.

The boy had climbed onto the corrugated roof to retrieve a football when it gave way, causing him to fall through and become trapped.

Fire crews forced entry into the garage and carried the youngster, who had sustained minor injuries to his knee, to waiting paramedics.

Tony's a good sport at PSC's activities day

SKY Sports soccer pundit and former West Ham and England striker Tony Cottee was on hand to cheer on youngsters taking part in a sports experience day at Harlow Leisurezone.

More than 350 children with learning difficulties from Essex and East Herts spent the day trying out over 20 different activities organised for the President's Sporting Club/Essex Disabled Sports Foundation's Sports Experience Day 2012. Boxing, football and fencing were among the activities on offer. One group also visited the Outdoor Education Centre where they spent the day tackling the high wire course and climbing walls. "The main point of our sports experience days is to give these children the chance to try things they have often never done before," said club chairman Mike Jackson. "Everyone always has such a brilliant time and already this year we have had some fantastic feedback from schools and parents saying what a positive difference the day had on their children. It is just wonderful."

Farm search led police to drug factory

POLICE working on a missing persons inquiry found more than they bargained for when they went to search farm units.

For although they drew a blank on their investigation, they had stumbled across a cannabis factory.

On Friday Philip Lloyd (48), of Jocelyns, Harlow, was jailed for 10 months after pleading guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court to growing cannabis at the farm in the village of Margaret Roding.

The court was told that when officers arrived at the farm, Lloyd emerged from one of the units smoking a joint.

The officers were then shown 24 cannabis plants under a tent-like construction along with irrigation equipment, lights and ventilation.

By COURT REPORTER

Peter Gair, prosecuting, said the officers went to the farm on September 24 last year seeking evidence of a missing person.

"They noted the defendant opening the door of a unit - he was smoking a cannabis reefer at the time - and when told by the officers they wanted to search the premises he said 'I'd better show you then, as you're here.'"

"It was a reasonably sophisticated cannabis farm."

Lloyd, who had served a previous prison sentence for importing cannabis into Cyprus, said he had set it up to supply to friends who were unhappy at the cost of the drug. He intended to sell it for £120 an ounce.

However, he refused to tell police the names of the friends.

Jailing Lloyd, recorder Francis Laird told him his previous conviction for importing cannabis into Cyprus was an "aggravating feature."

He added: "You co-operated with police with the location but refused to name the people to whom you intended to sell."

Mr Gair had told the judge that Lloyd had 20 previous convictions for 63 offences.

The court was told Lloyd had smoked cannabis for a long time but was now being urged to break his addiction by his long-standing partner.

Ron's garden party raises £1,000

BIRTHDAY celebrations for a Harlow historian have raised more than £1,200 for one of the town's treasured attractions.

Ron Bill asked guests attending his 80th birthday bash to make donations to the Gibberd Garden Trust instead of buying him gifts.

More than 200 family members and friends joined Mr Bill for the party which was held in the gardens at the former home of Harlow masterplanner Sir Frederick Gibberd in Marsh Lane.

"It was a fabulous day and really lovely to see so many friendly faces," said Mr Bill, author of A Civic History of Harlow Council and a regular contributor to the Star's Nostalgia page.

"The purpose of the event was more about raising money for the Gibberd Garden Trust than my birthday, though it was nice to be able to acknowledge both at the same time." He added: "I was very keen to raise money for the group as the Gibberd Garden is one of Harlow's last treasures. "I believe it is important to keep supporting the trust to protect the future of the gardens and ensure that they remain a part of Harlow for a very long time."

ST ALBANS ACADEMY Youngsters were thanked for their fundraising efforts when deaf charity Sign2Sing held a fun-packed assembly at the First Avenue school.

Mascot Ollie the Monkey thanked staff and children for managing to raise more money – £690 – than any other school in the UK by participating in the charity's mass sign and singalong earlier this year.

He then reminded children of some of the basics of sign language before leading them through another rendition of the record-breaking routine. Headteacher Anne-Marie McCann said: "The children have really enjoyed learning more about sign language and are all keen to help raise awareness of the difficulties faced by deaf people."

"It was nice of the charity to show their appreciation of our fundraising efforts by holding a special assembly. The children really enjoyed themselves."

HARLOW FIELDS

Youngsters got celebrations for the London Olympics off to a running start when they followed a sporting theme for their annual wheels about town event.

After decorating shopping trolleys lent to the school by Asda – which also presented the school with a cheque for £50 – with Olympic torches and rings, the youngsters completed a circuit around the town to raise awareness about their school. When they got back they were presented with medals and goody bags.

Community cohesion officer Kathy Fuller said she thought it had been the best year yet. "We were very lucky with the weather this year and the Olympic theme made it extra special," she said.

"The kids absolutely loved and it was so nice that every single pupil was able to make their own individual contribution."

TANY'S DELL Diamond anniversary celebrations brought a trip down memory lane for some Harlow residents as they returned to their old school to help them celebrate.

The Mowbray Road primary put on a spectacular afternoon and evening of 1950s-themed events to mark the school's 60th year.

Almost 1,000 people turned up to reminisce about the good old days while youngsters provided a programme of entertainment including music, dancing and a fancy dress parade, pictured above.

Business manager Bev Ingram said: "We are very much a community school so it was really nice to have so many people from the town come along to share their memories and meet with old friends."

"We'd like to say a big 'thank you' to everyone who helped make our jubilee celebration such a success."

RUM TUM TUGGERS Staff at the Latton Green nursery raised almost £300 when they dressed as elves to support a local children's charity.

Generous parents sponsored employees at the nursery to spend a day in fancy dress. The money they raise was presented to Kisses4Kids, a charity which arranges special treats for seriously ill youngsters and which has helped one youngster who attends the pre-school.

Director Jill Pascale, who presented the cheque to charity founder Stacey Johnson, said the organisation did a wonderful job.

"We would like to say a big 'thank you' to our parents for their generous donations to a very worthwhile cause," she said.

"It was lovely to meet Stacey and support Kisses4Kids. We have been told the money will go towards a new television in the children's A&E department at Princess Alexandra Hospital."

PASSMORES ACADEMY

Green-fingered students dug deep to help spruce up Harlow town centre ahead of next weekend's Olympic Torch relay.

The students mucked in to help plant colourful new displays in the brick planters in Broad Walk after volunteering to help Harlow Council make preparations for the big day on July 7.

Sue Scott, the academy's pastoral leader, said: "Every year Passmores students spend a day helping out various community projects. This year we arranged for one group to help brighten up the town centre for next weekend's torch relay."

Jon Clempner, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for the environment, added: "The Olympic torch relay will be a huge occasion for the town and the pupils have done a fantastic job to improve the planters which are in the main part of the town centre where some of the day's celebrations will happen."

Thrills, spills and spectacular stunts

HUNDREDS of thrillseekers put their street sports skills to the test at the SX Urban Games on Saturday.

Crowds of more than 700 people flocked to Harlow Skatepark for the annual council-backed event, which saw talented youngsters racing against the clock in mountain bike time trials and pulling off gravity-defying stunts on BMXs, scooters and skateboards.

DJs provided the soundtrack to the day's adrenaline-pumping entertainment, which also featured football freestylers and MC battles.

And with London 2012 fast approaching, this year's event carried an Olympic theme to reflect the fact BMX and mountain biking will both feature in the Games.

Emma Toal, Harlow Council's portfolio holder for youth and citizenship, said: "Hundreds of young people took up the opportunity to have a go at street sports like BMXing, skateboarding and mountain biking.

"We are fortunate in Harlow to have a brilliant state-of-the-art skatepark so it is important that we use facilities like this to provide opportunities to introduce young people to new and exciting activities, especially in this Olympic year."

Keeping fit with an eye on the finances

By CHRIS MOSS, News Editor
 chris.moss@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A NEW low-cost gym is hoping to outmuscle the competition after proving a hit with customers looking to keep fit on a budget.

Fit4Less, which is located above Harlow Bowl in Terminus Street, has signed up more than 700 members since opening in April – and staff are confident it will soon top 1,000.

Boasting an extensive free weights area, a cardiovascular workout theatre and a dedicated physiotherapy and massage suite, the gym offers users all the fat-burning equipment of a top-price sports centre at a fraction of the cost.

With a rolling monthly fee of just £19.99, members get unlimited use of the facilities and are free to come and go as they please without being tied into a lengthy contract.

According to franchise owner Derek Hambidge, it's a business model suited to a time of austerity, with his club one of many springing up across the UK as cash-strapped clients cut back on their personal spending.

"People will always want to get fit and healthy, but at times like these they can't afford to spend huge amounts of money on themselves," he said.

"That's why Fit4Less is proving to be so popular in Harlow. We can provide our members with the equipment and professional support they need to get into shape without asking them to break the bank."

The gym's open-plan, one-floor layout has kept overheads to a minimum while ensuring staff and instructors are always on hand to assist members, giving the club what sales manager Karen Cook describes as the "personal touch".

"Because of the way the club's laid out, all our members will get to know each member of staff well and it's this personal touch that helps set us apart from some of the bigger gyms," she said.

"A lot of people, especially women, feel intimidated when they visit a gym for the first time, but we're a very friendly, approachable bunch that will always go out of our way to welcome our new recruits."

The gym held its official launch party on Thursday, with members joining in by taking part in a flashmob dance routine on Broad Walk.

Karen added: "There's a strong sense of community here and everyone is willing to help others out. By spreading the word we hope we can help even more people achieve their fitness goals."

● For more information on Fit4Less, log on to the club's website at www.f4l.com/harlow or call (01279) 424699.

Things can only get batter for shop owner branching out into fast food

AN entrepreneurial Harlow newsagent is frying high after risking everything to open a fish and chip shop in Coppice Hatch.

Realising he was set to lose a substantial chunk of his trade following the relocation of nearby Passmores School last year, My News co-owner Oz Sadiq knew he needed to act fast to safeguard his business.

And after asking his regular customers what they felt their neighbourhood was missing, he settled on splitting his shop in two to open the area's first dedicated fast-food joint – called My Plaice – using money raised from the sale of another business to fund the project.

One month later business is booming and Mr Sadiq is already thinking about expanding.

"It was a massive gamble to open My Plaice but I knew we had to do something or else we'd have been in real trouble," he said.

"After a slow start business has really picked up. We're now taking big orders for corporate functions and other events; hopefully we'll soon be in a position to expand."

A traditional family-run chip shop with a modern twist, My Plaice offers hungry customers a selection of deep-fried delights, with all graffiti artist adorning the interior walls.

"Aside from providing top-quality food, we've tried to do things a bit differently to help us stand out from the competition," said Mr Sadiq.

"The food boxes are great because they keep the fish and chips separate, hot and fresh, while the artwork is another big talking point.

"It's been a bit of a rollercoaster but it seems like the gamble has paid off!"

Support service offering advice on redundancy

EMPLOYERS faced with the unenviable task of making redundancies and employees about to lose their jobs can make use of a free support service from development specialists The Consultancy Home Counties

TCHC is running a Skills Support for Redundancy programme which offers free advice, guidance and retraining opportunities to employers and their staff.

With financial backing from the Skills Funding Agency and the European Social Fund, the programme is aimed at helping people prepare for new careers or starting their own business after redundancy.

TCHC chief executive Dale Morgan said: "Redundancy is a very stressful time for both staff and their employers.

"We are firmly committed to getting those being made redundant into new job roles or helping them start up their own businesses through SSR.

"At the same time, we are considerably cutting the costs of redundancy for businesses so it is a very beneficial service for all concerned."

College appoints Martin as its first visiting professor

A RENOWNED political commentator and youth employment campaigner has been appointed Visiting Professor of Journalism to Harlow College.

Martin Bright, who is currently political editor of the Jewish Chronicle, has had a 25-year career in radio, television and print.

He was political editor at the New Statesman from 2005-8 and worked in a number of roles on the Observer, including education correspondent and home affairs editor.

Last year, in partnership with Harlow MP Robert Halfon, he launched a parliamentary academy for apprentices wanting to work in Westminster.

Mr Bright said: "It is a great honour to take up this position at Harlow College, which has a long tradition of training some of the best journalists in the country.

"I will begin by inviting Harlow College's stellar alumni, including Alan Rusbridger, Jeremy Clarkson, Piers Morgan and Richard Madeley to contribute to a series of lectures on the future of journalism in the wake of the Leveson Inquiry".

Harlow College principal Colin Hindmarch said: "We are thrilled that Martin has agreed to join us.

"He is keen to help us in our journalism programmes and I am sure our students will benefit enormously from his knowledge, experience and enthusiasm."

Millie proves that she's no scaredy cat!

A TOY firm has found the purr-fect candidate in its search for a new security guard - a cat called Millie!

The feisty feline was hired after workers spotted her roaming around its warehouse in Southampton.

With her brilliant climbing abilities and loud purr, she was seen as ideal for the role and has now joined the security team guarding some of the UK's biggest-selling toy ranges.

A company spokesman told reporters: "We are expecting a bumper year this Christmas with orders starting to fly in from retailers putting in their requests."

"With the appointment of Millie the security cat, our toys are now very well protected."

Millie has adapted quickly to her new role guarding toys including the new Ben 10, Power Rangers and Thundercats figures - all of which are expected to be top-sellers this Christmas.

Millie's owner said: "She's has always had a very vigilant personality and doesn't mind long hours alone."

"I'm not surprised she took up a career as a security guard; the toys are lucky to have such an attentive guardian."

Head insisted on punctuality

vicky.lane@hertsessexnews.co.uk

IT wasn't just a good education and sporting prowess that some pupils took away from Harlow Common CoE School. For one Harlow couple it also provided the spark for a long and happy marriage.

Fred and Una Bard, of Perryfield, Matching Green, will celebrate their own diamond jubilee next year. Both were pupils at the Church Road school in the 1930s and 1940s, starting at the age of five and leaving at 14.

According to Fred (now 84), they were aware of each other during their school days but there was little chemistry, between them.

"Una made no impact on me then," he said. "She was in the year below and although I knew of her I didn't see her as anything other than a school peer."

"It wasn't until after school when we both started working at Clark's Bakers in Potter Street that we started courting."

Among Fred and Una's most vivid memories of their early school days was the milk. "The cost was a ha'penny in old money per day for a third of a pint which came in a bottle with a straw," he said. "We remember this well because neither of us particularly liked milk then."

"The other thing we didn't like was the bucket toilets."

Fred added that he and Una shared many recollections of their headmaster, Charles Crouch.

"Mr Crouch was most particular," he said. "He would carry out a close inspection every morning and insist that shoes or boots should be absolutely clean, as well as punctuality being strictly adhered to. "Failure to be punctual in the absence of good reason was punished by having to write out the words 'Punctuality is the politeness of princes'. Very bad behaviour would be punished by the use of a slipper across the backside."

"Mr Crouch was also a very keen sportsman and gardener. I remember we had an allotment where we grew vegetables and also that the game of marbles was popular. The big glass ones were considered particularly valuable.

OOPS! Unfortunately a production error meant that the final two paragraphs of last week's story about Harlow Common CoE school could not be read. This is how the piece should have concluded:

"My late husband, Ronald, is also in the photo, as are his sister, brother and four cousins. I'm afraid that a good number in the photo are no longer with us, though."

"Looking back on my days at Harlow Common I can say I have lots of childhood memories from that school. They were happy and carefree times."

From the Star 25 years ago

☛ A man was taken to the burns unit at Billericay Hospital following an accident at his Ladyshot home. It is believed he was trying to light a bonfire when things took a turn for the worse, although he has requested that no details of his condition are released.

☛ French police are questioning a 25-year-old Harlow man after discovering a £1m haul of cannabis on a British yacht. The boat was en route from Morocco to Hull when police stopped it near Boulogne.

☛ A JCB digger was used to lift the body of a 10-day old foal from Canons Brook. It is unclear whether the animal slipped or if the body was dumped, but it has not caused any environmental health problems to the water.

☛ Harlow Council could be in financial trouble in two or three years if it continues to spend, spend, spend. District auditor Jim Lees warned the local authority was spending too much, despite acknowledging that it was providing high levels of service as a result.

WITH a squint it is just possible to make out the dark outline of elephants walking from Harlow Station to the circus in the Town Park.

These pictures were sent in by Paul Johnson, of The Hides, after he read the recollections of local resident Bill Lewis in Nostalgia.

Paul said it was always an exciting time when the circus came to town.

"My friend Dennis and I worked for a short while at the Chinese State Circus," he said. "Our job was to help put up tents and dismantle them. "I remember we also used to really enjoy the town shows back then," he added.

"I have heard that GPCA is taking over organising the shows now and hope it will be like the ones we visited all those years ago."

Reunion of old school pals

TWO old school pals from Harlow have written to Nostalgia about a forthcoming reunion.

Melvyn Seymour and Pauline Allen are trying to contact former classmates who attended Broadfield Primary from 1955 to 1961 or Netteswell School from 1961 and 1967 about the get-together in October.

Melvyn, who lived in the town up until 1991, said that after recently meeting up with Pauline they were keen to extend the revitalised friendship circle.

"Pauline and I have decided to get a reunion of as many school friends from these years as possible," he said. "Several people have said what a great idea it would be to meet up after all these years."

"Some of the people who we have already managed to contact are living in America, Australia and Canada but are making plans to come over for the event."

For more information email Melvyn at melvyn.seymour@btinternet.com or call 07970 043320.

Thug struck victim with a snooker cue

By COURT REPORTER
star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

JAILED:

Bradley Stantiford

A THUG who attacked a man in his own home with a snooker cue has been jailed.

Bradley Stantiford (36), of Adams House, Harlow, targeted Sam Jones (21) after seeing him with a man he claimed owed him money, St Albans Crown Court heard.

Mr Jones and Arron Wilkinson had been walking in Hertford in the early hours of May 23 when they spotted Mr Wilkinson's former girlfriend Claire Hamilton leaning out of a window in a block of flats carrying a cigarette, prosecutor Isabel Delamere told the court.

She said: "He [Mr Wilkinson] whistled at her and went into the flats but shortly afterwards came running out chased by the defendant.

"Sam Jones did not run. It had nothing to do with him but the defendant came over and punched him to his left eye. He said: 'Where's Arron going? He is going to pay me. I want my money.'

"He hit Mr Jones again, causing his nose to bleed."

Mr Jones fled but stopped when Miss Hamilton called out to him. Stantiford then attacked him again, punching him in the face and breaking his glasses.

The court heard Mr Jones returned to his flat in Ware and went to sleep, but later woke up to find both Stantiford and Miss Hamilton inside. The defendant demanded to know where Mr Wilkinson was and told Miss Hamilton to get a knife so he could "gut" Mr Jones.

She refused so Stantiford grabbed a snooker cue and hit Mr Jones leaving a large gash around his eye. Stantiford and Miss Hamilton then left and Mr Jones went to a neighbour who called an ambulance.

He was taken to Princess Alexandra Hospital and treated for cuts and bruises.

Stantiford pleaded guilty to causing grievous bodily harm, assault by beating and possession of a Class A drug.

The court was told that earlier this year Stantiford was made the subject of a five-year violent offenders' banning order preventing him from entering pubs and bars in Hertfordshire, Cambridgeshire, Bedfordshire and Essex.

He had previous convictions for grievous bodily harm, actual bodily harm and having offensive weapons.

Jailing him for two years and eight months, Judge Andrew Bright said: "You are a man who resorts to violence and the use of weapons at the drop of a hat."

Hospice chief's praises for commitment of volunteers

THE dedication and loyalty of a band of hospice volunteers has been rewarded during a tea party.

Twenty-seven volunteers who between them have collectively provided 230 years of assistance to St Clare Hospice at Hastingwood received awards for five, 10 and 15 years of service. The presentations were made by Harlow MP Robert Halfon during the afternoon tea which was hosted by hospice chairman Michael Chapman.

Two volunteers - June Coyne and Letitia Berry - received additional awards in recognition of their 20

Mr Chapman said: "To have more than 500 volunteers devoting their spare time to the cause of St Clare Hospice is an amazing achievement and shows the caring nature of the people of west Essex."

Hospice chief executive Tanya Curry added: "The commitment and enthusiasm volunteers bring to a charity is incredibly important and valued."

"I thank each and every one of our volunteers for all they contribute each year and particularly congratulate those receiving special long service awards." Recipients of awards were:

FIVE YEARS: Linda Smith, Theresa Walstow, Margaret Moss, Sylvia Norris, Susan Bell, Bozena Ciszewicz, Ann Flint, Carol Godfrey, Sue Ross, Robin Ekblom, Carol Eldridge, John North, Harry Miller.

TEN YEARS: Ellen Long, Bridget Crouch, Len Crouch, Barbara Macdonald, Iain Wallace, Ann Gorman, Jennifer Blatch, Tina Crook, Betty Clark, Martin Love, June Wood.

FIFTEEN YEARS: Mary Love.

TWENTY YEARS: Letitia Berry, June Coyne.

Rights and wrongs of unfair dismissal

Information from Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice

Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice provides specialist advice and tribunal and court representation on matters involving benefits, housing, employment and debt. Information on a range of other subjects is also available. Appointments can be made to see specialist advisers and solicitors. Contact the service on (01279) 446622 or by calling in at the Advice Centre, 2 East Gate, The High, between 10am and 1.30pm on weekdays. Out-of-hours appointments and home visits are available if necessary.

HERE at Harlow Welfare Rights & Advice we often receive enquiries from local residents who feel they may have been unfairly dismissed from their employment.

In times of economic uncertainty and job insecurity, the right not to be unfairly dismissed becomes increasingly important.

Unfair dismissal is one of the most widely known areas of employment law and makes up a very large proportion of claims taken to employment tribunals, but is often misunderstood.

When advising people who have recently been dismissed we have to consider many factors. These include, for example, the reason for the dismissal and whether or not the employer followed a fair procedure.

However, the first thing that needs to be considered is how long someone has been employed.

In order to proceed with a normal claim for unfair dismissal in the majority of cases, an employee will need to have a qualifying period of service with that employer.

When unfair dismissal protection was introduced in the 1970s this was six months. It was increased to two years in the 1980s and reduced to one year in the late 1990s.

This means that in the majority of cases people will not be able to commence proceedings for unfair dismissal unless they have worked for their employer for a minimum period of one year.

However, recent changes to employment law means that this period has now increased to a minimum of two years. This means that people who were employed on or after April 6 2012, may not be able to claim unfair dismissal unless they have had two years of service.

Whilst the majority of people will need to have the requisite amount of service before being able to claim unfair dismissal, there are circumstances when a dismissal will be regarded as automatically unfair.

In these special circumstances a dismissal will be deemed unfair irrespective of an employee's length of service and a claim can be lodged from day one of your employment.

Examples of automatically unfair dismissals are those that are related to pregnancy or occur because an employee has claimed that their employer has failed in some statutory obligation.

If people consider that they may have been unfairly dismissed they should seek advice as soon as possible as there are strict time limits for making claims.

This summer show is the dream ticket

By CHRIS MOSS

ONE of Harlow's most successful am-dram groups is hoping to capitalise on the public's renewed thirst for all things Shakespeare when it stages an enchanting new production of A Midsummer Night's Dream at Victoria Hall Theatre next month.

With the Bard's best-loved comedy poised to make a high-profile return to the West End later this summer and a national celebration of his work taking centre stage in the 2012 Cultural Olympiad, Harlow Theatre Company felt it fitting to dedicate their summer show to England's greatest playwright. "This is going to be a great show" said director Jim Thompson. "We have got a wide range of ages involved, with 10-year-olds playing the fairies, teenagers playing the lovers and some HTC stalwarts in the older parts.

"The ethos at HTC that our summer shows are family oriented has really been put to task." Set in a magical forest where the worlds of mortals and faeries collide with hilarious results, the play will be the first Shakespeare production that HTC have tackled since 2004 - and Jim is relishing the challenge.

"I have tried to make this as traditional as possible, with the costumes being very much period and the music atmospheric," he added.

"We've also thrown in a bit of magic

that hopefully will have the audiences gasping.

"Rehearsals have been a lot of fun and I am really excited that we have made the most out of the comedy. Hopefully people new to the show will realise that Shakespeare is not boring while regular theatregoers will have their love of the show re-ignited."

The show runs at Victoria Hall Theatre in Old Harlow from July 11-14, with performances starting at 7pm and a Saturday matinee at 3pm.

Tickets cost £10 (£8 concessions) and can be purchased from the theatre box office by calling (01279) 420062 or via email at info@harlowtheatrecompany.org.uk.

Players back in rehearsals after picking up plaudits on an international stage

BOOTY CALL: Claire Quley and Monica Albinson

ALL the world's a stage for members of Harlow's longest-established drama group after impressing audiences at an international theatre festival in Austria.

Moot House Players presented their haunting adaptation of The Booty - Algerian playwright Hamida Ait El Hadi's harrowing parable of Middle Eastern oppression - at a five-day celebration of drama attended by am-dram groups from across the globe.

The play, providing timely comment on the political turmoil sweeping through the Middle East in the wake of the Arab Spring, was performed in Harlow last summer.

It was well received by the international audience at the Abtenau 1st Bohne (Abtenau 1st A Stage) festival held near Salzburg.

An MHP spokeswoman said: "This was a wonderful opportunity to meet and exchange ideas with other like-minded groups and see what they were doing, to renew old friendships and make new theatrical friends.

"This is the eighth such international festival in which the Players have been invited to take part in recent years, both in Europe and Australia, and in all these places the very different presentations have been received with great acclaim."

Now back in the UK, the company has begun rehearsals for forthcoming production The New MP, a darkly comic political play written and directed by MHP stalwart Michael Branwell.

The production will be staged at Moot Hall from July 12-14 at 8pm. Tickets priced at £8 (£6 concessions) are available now from the box office on (01279) 639170.

Gore blimey, there's a predator on the prowl

STORAGE 24
certificate 15, 1h27m

THE good old days when ET simply wanted to phone home are long gone. If aliens descend on Earth now they don't want to sit contentedly in the basket of a child's bicycle and soar serenely across a perfect moonlit sky.

Instead they would much prefer to annihilate and conquer, preferably via a series of special effects-laden set pieces that reduce iconic landmarks to steaming piles of twisted metal. A 24-hour storage facility in south London is the epicentre of the destruction in Johannes Roberts's gore-splattered sci-fi horror.

The building's labyrinthine corridors and snaking air ducts provide a suitably claustrophobic setting for the battle royale between a hideous extraterrestrial predator and a motley crew of ill-equipped human prey. The film opens with a suspected airplane crash which causes widespread panic and destruction. Metal crates are strewn among the debris, with nothing inside apart from a gooey residue slathered over the interior.

Nearby, wise-cracking Charlie (Noel Clarke) and his best friend Mark (Colin O'Donoghue)

arrive at a storage facility to collect some of Charlie's belongings. A malfunctioning security system traps the young men inside the building with employee Jake (Alex Price) and electrician Bob (Geoff Bell), who attempt to reboot the mainframe and open the metal shutters.

Meanwhile, Charlie and Mark head for a locker where they run into Charlie's embittered ex-girlfriend Shelley (Antonia Campbell-Hughes), her gal pal Nikki (Laura Haddock) and snarky pal Chris (Jamie Thomas King). As the former lovers trade insults, a growl reverberates through the building.

Based on an original screenplay by leading man Clarke, Storage 24 is solid, entertaining but unremarkable genre fare littered with undernourished characters and predictable twists.

The set-up is familiar, right down to the opening scenes of a nameless dog walker (Amy Pemberton) who follows her pet into a gloomy warehouse where something nasty lurks in the shadows.

Clarke quips through the madness while his co-stars treat their predicament with utmost seriousness. Slick make-up effects and a couple of fizzing one-liners compensate for a paucity of edge-of-seat scares.

>>still on screen

ABRAHAM LINCOLN: VAMPIRE HUNTER As a youngster, Abraham Lincoln (Benjamin Walker) witnesses his mother Nancy (Robin McLeavy) fall victim to a vampire who lives among the humans as a slave trader. Abraham swears revenge and is tutored in the finer points of vampire extermination by enigmatic mentor Henry Sturgess (Dominic Cooper), who despatches his pupil to Springfield in 1837 to hunt down the fanged fiends. Gradually, Abraham embarks on a political course as a fervent abolitionist, using words as weapons rather than his trusty axe. Meanwhile, chief vampire Adam (Rufus Sewell) and his sister Vadoma (Erin Wasson) prepare to attack Abraham's family in order to stop his crusade for equality for all men.

THE FIVE-YEAR ENGAGEMENT San Francisco sous chef Tom (Jason Segel) meets psychology graduate Violet (Emily Blunt) at a party. On their one-year anniversary he pops the question but soon after their engagement party Violet secures a doctoral position at Michigan University and Tom selflessly sacrifices his career to follow her to the Midwest. However, the move puts the relationship under intolerable strain and the couple contemplate breaking off the engagement to pursue their career ambitions in separate states.

PROMETHEUS (3D & 2D) After astrophysicist Dr Elizabeth Shaw (Noomi Rapace) and her partner Charlie Holloway (Logan Marshall-Green) unearth an ancient cave painting that confirms the existence of an extra-terrestrial race known as the Engineers, wealthy industrialist Peter Weyland (Guy Pearce) agrees to finance a voyage to the alien home planet. A spaceship called Prometheus captained by Janek (Idris Elba) provides the transport for Weyland company executive Meredith Vickers (Charlize Theron) and the crew, but as the explorers touch down on the Engineers' home world they are woefully unprepared for what awaits them.

SNOW WHITE & THE HUNTSMAN Evil queen Ravenna (Charlize Theron) incarcerates her stepdaughter Snow White (Kristen Stewart) in the north tower and plans to attain eternal youth by ripping out her beating heart. When the girl escapes and flees into the Dark Forest, Ravenna hires a huntsman (Chris Hemsworth) to track her down. But he falls under Snow White's spell and agrees to help her overthrow the evil queen.

MEN IN BLACK 3 (3D & 2D) Boglode assassin Boris The Animal (Jemaine Clement) escapes from a high security prison and plans to travel back in time to kill the man who put him behind bars - Agent K (Tommy Lee Jones). Having ascertained the past has been altered, Agent J (Will Smith) travels back to 1969 to save his best friend from annihilation.

THE AMAZING SPIDER-MAN
certificate 12A, 2h16m
(screening from next Tuesday)

MARC Webb directs this action-packed reboot of the Marvel Comics superhero franchise, taking the eponymous web-slinger back to his origins. High school student Peter Parker (Andrew Garfield) is haunted by the disappearance of his parents Richard (Campbell Scott) and Mary (Embeth Davidtz).

He lives with his uncle Ben (Martin Sheen) and aunt May (Sally Field) and contends with all the usual growing pains, including persistent bullying from classmate Flash Thompson (Chris Zylka).

A tender romance with fellow student Gwen Stacy (Emma Stone) keeps Peter on an even keel until he is bitten by a genetically modified spider which blesses him with wondrous superhuman powers. Slowly, the young man comes to terms with his new abilities, transforming himself into the high-flying crime fighter Spider-Man.

At the same time, Peter discovers evidence about his parents which links back to his father's business partner at Oscorps, Dr Curt Connors (Rhys Ifans). Little does Peter realise that Connors also has a secret alter ego - the reptilian supervillain The Lizard.

certificate 15, 1h47m

JENNIFER Westfield writes and directs an ensemble comedy, dissecting the entwined fates of six friends, who live and work in Manhattan, over the course of four turbulent years.

Thirtysomething advertising executive Jason (Adam Scott) has been friends with Julie (Westfield) for years but there has never been a romantic spark between them. Surrounded by pals and family who are getting married and having children, Jason and Julie contend that the secret to a stable relationship would be to raise a brood first and then find your soulmate.

To test the theory, they have a child together - a boy called Joe - and pursue relationships with other people.

The couple's respective married friends - Alex (Chris O'Dowd) and Leslie (Maya Rudolph), and Ben (Jon Hamm) and Missy (Kristen Wiig) - predict disaster but it's their own relationships which unexpectedly come apart at the seams.

As time passes, Jason and Julie raise Joe independently, but they are never far from each other's thoughts.

Should I make an Offer

As a buyer you are in a powerful position, both in terms of the effect your buying decision will have on your own life, and on that of the person from whom you buy.

If buying a property was some form of commodity like petrol or milk, then you would simply buy the cheapest stock available. However, buying a home is much less mercenary, and emotions run high.

Over the years, homebuyers have become used to the idea of making a starting offer below the asking price, but it might be worth considering a few aspects of the implications of making a low offer.

Firstly what does a low offer say about you to the vendor? That you don't have the money and that any subsequent increase might stretch you beyond your ability to complete the purchase? Does it suggest you don't really like their home, risking offence? A low offer can often start off the relationship with the vendor on the wrong foot.

And what if your low offer is accepted? Will the vendors experience regret and continue to market the property hoping to find a higher price with someone else? The chances of such a buyer being found are high as people usually want a property that someone else wants. We receive more interest about properties which are under offer than we do about those for sale!

Ultimately it's about commitment. An offer at, close to, a realistic asking price tells the vendor you are committed to the property. In return the vendor is likely to demonstrate a level of commitment to you that will result in a successful purchase.

Local Property Comment

Alan Howick
01279 401902

Super Mario's Out!

Well, the footie is over, for us anyway, no big surprise there! Did anyone really expect us to get any further than the quarter finals?

I feel Roy Hodgson is going to be OK, he won't tolerate those prima donna's and so called super stars, they're out and I say a good thing too! Same in many ways with estate agents, so many super Mario's and super hero's when all you are looking for is sound, dependable help and guidance. Talking of hero's, our very own James R has returned from three weeks of honeymooning and has the biggest grin I've ever seen from someone just married, he said something about Mexico being hot and sunny yet no sign of a sun tan?

One last thing did you get our unique recipe card through your letter box recently? It has proven to be very popular with potential clients and budding chiefs of Harlow. If you didn't get one, please give me a ring and I will organise for one to be sent through to you.

Make sure to keep an eye out for the next issue which is due around September.

Natural born cruiser

By Matt Kimberley

IT'S nice when a car gives you a pleasant surprise, but as prices climb it gets less and less likely that you'll find something that feels worth more than the sum of its parts. But here's an arrow to pierce the clouds of high-rolling disappointment and it comes in the shapely guise of the BMW 640d Gran Coupe. It's a longer version of the 6 Series that was launched last October, with two extra doors and 13cm of extra wheelbase to give rear passengers more room.

It's a natural born cruiser with a big footprint on the road and a choice of muscular engines. Here in Britain the 309bhp straight six-cylinder diesel is expected to make up the vast majority of the sales so that's the one to test, but there are also two petrol options. The first of the two, in the 640i, is a revvy straight-six with 316bhp but it can't match the diesel for torque. Later this year deliveries will start of the 444bhp 650i V8 model, which will be capable of reasonable fuel economy and cruise missile performance.

But there's really very little to criticise about the diesel and an awful lot to shout about. There's a lot of internet forum sniffiness about diesel being petrol's poor and slightly backwards cousin but you can guarantee none of the folks saying that have ever actually experienced this engine. Remember the first time you watched films like The Matrix or Inception? This engine is the same kind of eye-opener that reshapes your perception of an entire genre. Somehow BMW have made it grumble a lot like a petrol V8 under power, pull like a train at almost any revs and return well over 40mpg at a fast cruise. It's absolutely remarkable. Only a bit of diesel rattle at low speeds gives it away.

But then there's the way it drives. There are two chassis and trim options that are familiar right through the BMW range: SE and M Sport.

FACTfile

BMW 640d
SE Gran Coupe

PRICE
from £61,390 on the road
(£81,670 as tested)

ENGINE 3.0-litre twin-turbo six cylinder diesel producing 309bhp
TRANSMISSION 8-speed automatic driving the rear wheels
PERFORMANCE Maximum speed 155mph, 0-62mph in 5.4s
ECONOMY 51.4mpg
CO<sub>2</sub> RATING 148g/km

Most British buyers go for M Sport because it generally looks and feels a bit flashier, but there's something rather important to say for this, the SE.

Riding on 18-inch alloys it looks a tiny bit under-wheeled, but it rides with a fluidity and composure that the M Sport models have historically lacked, being stiffer and a little more jittery at times on the UK's pockmarked roads.

Larger upgrades are offered at a price, and on the SE they really don't ruin the ride at all. The extra give in the chassis setup suits them perfectly.

One thing to note is that the launch cars were spec'd up to the nines with — wait for it — a gut-wrenching £20,000 of options. That's the price of an entire lightly used 320d M Sport. It's a tremendous showcase for all the technology and luxury that BMW can offer on the 6 Series, but you might need to grow one or two extra noses to pay through.

There's one pricey option you really don't want to be without, though. Adaptive Drive will deprive you of £3,400 but provides a series of driving modes from Sport (with or without traction control) down to Comfort+ and Eco Pro, which optimises the drivetrain for fuel saving and gives a little readout of the range you've gained compared to if you'd used Comfort+ instead. One for the gadget fiends, that.

In Sport mode the portly cruiser's high-speed body control is superb and when tasked with a twisting country road it seems like it loses a good 250kg of body weight at the entrance of the first corner and doesn't find it again until you're back on the straight and sedate. It's no Lotus Elise, but the level of throttle adjustability and liveliness in the platform is laugh-out-loud good.

Some of the options like 'Comfort Access' leave the average driver a bit non-plussed, but the problem for buyers is going to be the fact that so many of the extras are desperately desirable, like DAB radio, stunningly good LED headlights, Nappa leather seats, a reversing camera and a brilliant head-up display.

It'll be nigh-impossible to buy a 6 Series with the spec you want at anything close to the list price. If you add a good 20 per cent on to account for options when considering how far your budget will stretch, the 6 Series Gran Coupe is vying for the top spot in its class. It just does everything so staggeringly well and a real spark of life ignites within it through corners.

BMW doesn't expect to sell that many, but they deserve to be proved wrong.

ORDER Mii NOW! STUNNING CITY CAR HITS SHOWROOM

The brilliant SEAT Mii – one of the most eagerly-anticipated new cars of the 2012 – has arrived at CMC Harlow.

The stunning city car rolled in to the retailers at the Edinburgh Way showroom earlier this week ahead of its UK launch this month.

And the newcomer, which has already received rave reviews in the motoring press – including a five-star rating in top-selling car-buyers' 'bible', What Car? – is attracting big interest.

Paul Holmes, Sales Manager at CMC Harlow said: 'There's been a real sense of excitement surrounding the Mii for months, but now it's actually in our showroom it's palpable.'

'It's a totally new car and marks a very welcome return for SEAT to the city car segment. What's more, we believe it sets a new benchmark in that market sector.'

With prices starting from just £7,845 RRP on the road for the entry-level Mii S 3dr, the new model's costs are just as compact as its dimensions. But it's the Mii's ingenious design, even more than its incredible value, that will help it make a big impact in the growing city car segment.

Every element of the Mii has been conceived to maximise interior space, without compromising urban agility, comfort, safety or performance. And, as a result, the striking new model is every bit as good looking as it is to drive.

Boasting best-in-class headroom and a boot space which is among the biggest in the segment, even the entry-level Mii comes with a generous spec' which includes the very latest in multimedia technology – the SEAT Portable System – a single device which incorporates sat-nav and Bluetooth and displays information from the radio, CD player and on board computer at a glance.

Meanwhile, beneath the new small SEAT's svelte bonnet lies a state-of-the-art 1.0-litre, three cylinder, MPI (multi-point injection) petrol engine with an output of either 60 PS or a punchy 75 PS. In most variants, this compact, lightweight engine delivers very competitive CO2 emissions as low as 105 g/km, but those opting for the Mii Ecomotive with SEAT's start/stop system and energy recovery system will enjoy emissions of just 96 g/km and will therefore be exempt from road tax and the London Congestion Charge.

For more details of the new SEAT Mii or to book a test drive, call CMC Harlow now on 01279 775 900, or visit the Edinburgh Way showroom.

LEARNING something new is not only good for keeping the mind alert and active, it will also make you more of an interesting person, help you avoid feeling bored and often provide the opportunity to meet new people with similar interests. Learning something new often requires you to stretch yourself in different aspects, whether physically, mentally or emotionally. If you have the time and inclination, why not try something completely different this year? You can use a new skill to help you at home or in later life or simply just as a way to make new friends. Beyond your usual favourite pastimes, is there something you can start from scratch? It's never too late to learn a new skill or take up a sport you haven't tried before or a hobby you might never normally have considered. 2012 is the year when sport is uppermost in most of our minds and an ideal time to try something for the first time.

If you are thinking of something a little more sedate, then why not try one of the local adult education centres where there are numerous part-time day and evening classes with something for everyone? You could look in local newspapers for centres and courses near you.

Khawaja stars again

AHMED Khawaja was the central figure with bat and ball as Harlow secured a convincing home win over basement side Southend-on-Sea & EMT (Ecko, Monarchs and Trojans).

The spinner took 5-41 before later scoring 64 not out in Harlow's triumph on Saturday.

Harlow skipper Luke Heskett won the toss and put the visitors in to bat.

Opening bowler Andrew McGarry kept one end tight and conceded only 35 runs from 17 overs.

Wickets fell at regular intervals at the other end and at one stage Southend were 73-8.

Heskett took the first wicket before Usman Jan claimed the next two and then Khawaja tucked into the middle and late order.

Late resistance came from Steve Johnson (30) as 53 was added for the last two Southend wickets.

Heskett (2-16), Jan (2-10) and Jack Davies (1-17) also bowled well.

In reply, Harlow started badly with Luke Monger (1) and Rehman Ahmed (0) falling cheaply to Shafi Mohammad Tanvir.

Nino Calvino stayed to make 15, but when he was out Harlow were rocking on 30-3.

Jan then joined Khawaja and the pair guided Harlow home with an unbroken stand of 98 for the fourth wicket.

Jan finished with 45 not out.

Tanvir claimed 2-37.

"It was important to beat the side at the bottom to keep us away from there. Ahmed Khawaja was a real star for us. He played really well," said Heskett.

Top test for Town

A TEST of Harlow Town's promotion ambitions will come when they host division three leaders Billericay this Saturday.

Two sides are set to go up and Town are in third spot.

This was after they bounced back from their heavy defeat at Old Parkonians with a fighting home win over a determined West Essex side five days ago. Replying to West Essex' 203-8, the hosts had slipped to 108-6. This was despite a mature 32 from 16-year-old first team league debutant Matt Hurley and a useful 29 from Ramya Upadhyay.

Almost 100 was still needed and Charlie Coleman (53 not out) and Darryl Pettengell (55 not out) showed their mettle with some fine shots to see Town home with three overs to spare.

Earlier, the visitors were put in after Town skipper Dan Calver won the toss.

West Essex opener Irfan Riaz dominated an opening stand of 51 before Upadhyay claimed two quick wickets.

Riaz kept on playing his shots before the introduction of Scott Baker's spin saw him well caught in the deep for 66.

However, Riz Akbar stayed for a steady knock of 58 and the lower order chipped in as the visitors totalled 203-8.

Ashley Alderson took some quick wickets at the end, finishing with 3-38.

Harlow Town II (163) lost by six runs to Old Southendians (169); Karl Seecharan 4-29 in division three of the Shepherd Neame Essex League (SNEL).

However, Harlow Town III (188-8, Wade Norcott 51) beat Pegasus & Corringham III (187-7) by two wickets in SNEL 3rd XI division three.

Harlow Town IV (103-8) hung on for a draw against close rivals close rivals Harlow IV (258-4; Ken Aldred 99) in SNEL 4th XI division two.

Pythons bite off silverware after tournament triumph

SUMNERS Pythons U-10s grabbed an impressive victory in a football tournament hosted by Bishop's Stortford FC (Youth) on Sunday.

Pythons progressed through one of three groups and defeated Bishop's Stortford Athletic in the quarter-finals in a shoot-out. The side then won 3-1 in their semi-final against Woodford United.

This was after two impressive strikes from Alfie Goldthorpe and a goal from Tyler

Welsh.

The side took on favourites Bury Rangers in the final at Friedberg Avenue.

Rangers had come through a quarter-final and semi-final after winning both on penalties.

This included a win over Sumners Youth's A team Cobras in the last eight.

After Tyler gave Pythons the lead with an excellent finish in the final, Bury fought back and scored twice to lead 2-1.

But with just a minute remaining, Tyler struck his second when he beat a defender, rounded the Bury keeper and slotted home superbly.

This prompted another shoot-out to decide the victor.

The game went to sudden death after 10 successful kicks, but then Pythons keeper Luke Hannibal pulled off a wonderful save to secure the spoils for the Harlow team.

It's a Grays day as Kirby quits

RYAN Kirby has quit Harlow Town FC to join fellow Ryman League division one north club Grays Athletic.

The experienced central defender, pictured right, re-joined Harlow for a third spell last summer and his consistency won him the Players' Player of the Year award for the 2011-12 season.

Despite the fact he is 37, his departure is a blow for Hawks boss Danny Chapman.

Chapman explained: "He was excellent for us and I wanted him to be a part of it next season. These things happen and it was his decision.

"Ryan has taken on a coaching role with Dagenham & Redbridge U-14s and that takes up a lot of time."

He added: "Grays train only two minutes from his home and it's easier for him."

Kirby's departure follows the exit of assistant boss Christian Wheeler last week.

Although Wheeler did not start many games last season, he provided useful defensive cover from the subs' bench.

Chapman said: "I do have Jack Haverson [at centre-half], but I need to replace Ryan Kirby and also have another centre-half as cover.

"There is no massive rush to sign players. It's still early days."

Kirby follows former Hawks striker James Bunn to Grays.

The ex-Enfield front-man quit Hawks in the new year to join the South Essex club's bid to go up to the Ryman premier division.

Chapman has not yet found a replacement for Wheeler and will be meeting with Hawks co-owner Tommy Cunningham today (Thursday) to discuss team matters.

Meanwhile, central midfielder Getro Kilapi should remain at Harlow for the 2012-13 season.

Kilapi has been a strong ball winner in the centre of the park over the past two seasons.

He fell out of favour at the end of last season after he was injured playing in Sunday League football.

This made him unavailable for the crucial Easter Bank Holiday Monday game at lowly Ware which Harlow lost 1-0.

Chapman was angered by this and refused to consider Kilapi for selection for the rest of the campaign.

But the Hawks boss says this is all water under the bridge now. He said: "Getro has apologised and he will be coming back. I will be looking for another midfielder."

The Hawks resume pre-season training this Saturday.

Striker Danny Elmes, who was released by Northampton Town and played for Harlow at the back end of last season, is set to move on and has had a trial at an unnamed club.

Utility player Reece Dobson has also secured a trial with League Two club Barnet.

Apex hit the Eastern heights

FOUR top three spots were gained by members of Harlow's Apex Trampoline Club at an Eastern Region grading event.

The contest at Hitchin saw Alex Searle win first spot in the over 15 male (grade E) section.

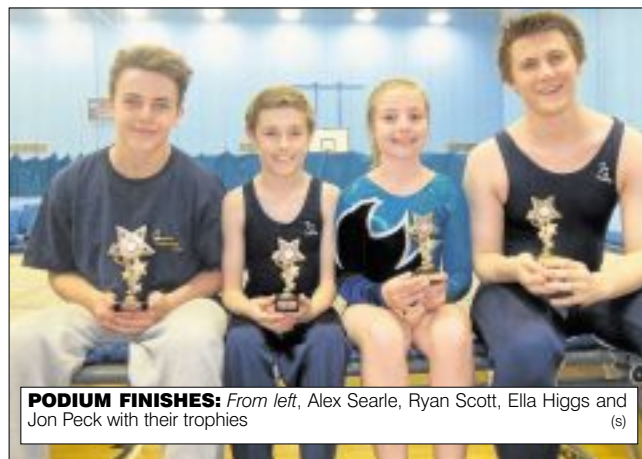

Second spots were gained by Ryan Scott in the U-15 male grade F category and Ella Higgs in the U-11 female club grade H.

Jon Peck achieved third spot in the Over-15 male grade F event. He also qualified to grade E.

Competing alongside Jon, Ross Hutchins was fourth and qualified to grade E.

Regional grades go from H to D and after D trampoline players move up to compete at national level.

Hawks groundsman praised by the FA

THE work of David Bidwell on Harlow Town FC's ground has been recognised by the Football Association.

Bidwell was highly commended for his efforts at Barrows Farm when the FA hosted its annual Groundsman of the Year awards.

Harlow were one of three Essex clubs that were recognised.

An Essex FA spokesman said: "The judges reported a particularly high standard of groundsmanship across the country despite the adverse winter weather, and they thanked everyone who submitted nominations this season."

Meanwhile the FSIF (Football Stadium Improvement Fund) has announced changes in eligibility for ground projects meaning clubs can claim more support.

It is supported by a £6m fund from the Premier League each year.

Ovett's praise a tonic for GB ace

A CHANCE encounter with former Olympic gold medalist Steve Ovett boosted Harlow's Great Britain 800m hopeful Andrew Osagie.

Osagie (24) breezed through the Aviva Olympic Trials at Birmingham on Sunday, shown live on BBC2, and can now prepare to represent Team GB at the London Olympics in August.

It will be the first time the Harlow Athletic Club member has competed at an Olympic Games.

But it was a week previous to this meeting that Osagie encountered British sporting legend Ovett in New York after the Harlow favourite had competed in the Samsung Diamond League meeting in the United States.

Who can forget Ovett's long-distance rivalry with Sebastian Coe in the 1980 and 1984 Olympics, when both presented Great Britain?

Osagie, of Northbrooks, explained: "Steve was working for Australian television at the meeting and he came and found me in the hotel lobby. He told me 'you've got something; you've just got to keep going; you've got something'."

"Those few words probably mean more than an hour and a half's conversation with a coach telling me, 'this is the training to do'.

"It's someone who's been there and done it. It was inspirational; it's definitely spurred me on for the next five weeks."

Many in the athletic world have been aware of Osagie's talent over the last two years, but he will now become one of the pin-up boys in London this summer when collective British fingers will be firmly crossed as he bids to win a medal for the home nation.

He has been tipped for a medal after coming home with a bronze medal at the World Indoor Athletics Championships in Turkey earlier this year.

But he has a tough quest to overcome gold medal favourite and World Record holder David Rudisha. The Kenyan has previously clocked an astonishing 1:41.

Ovett claimed Olympic gold in Moscow in 1980, defeating his close rival Coe. His grace, speed and power are attributes that Osagie shares.

The former Leventhorpe School student barely broke sweat as he gave his close GB rival Michael Rimmer – the European Championship silver

BOOST: The classic shot of Ovett and Coe at the 1984 Olympics. Inset, Andrew Osagie at Birmingham in the Olympic Trials on Sunday (s) medallist in 2010 – a lesson in 800m running at the Olympic Trial.

Osagie is the only Great Britain runner to make the Olympic qualifying time of 1:45 this year.

Osagie himself is looking to build on his excellent form this year and follow in the footsteps of his heroes Ovett and Coe.

He added: "Of course what they achieved puts pressure on the generations that follow, but I love pressure."

"I love competing. I love racing. I love pressure. That's why I'm in the sport. There's nothing better than overcoming a challenge."

"They are big footsteps [Coe and Ovett] – they've done everything. It's a great inspiration for me. That was a big buzz for me [those words from Ovett] coming into this week and Crystal Palace [Osagie's next event]."

"No matter what I'm in, I'm going to be following in their footsteps – county champs or winning the Olympics."

"All I can do is to take that information on board and use it in my races in the future."

Cousins furious at Olympics snub

British Judo Association can be tyrannical and can get away with it. There is no comment as it's a minor sport."

He added: "It hurts massively because I had the best chance of a medal. I have gone to events without their support, but I would like to thank everybody who has supported me in Harlow. I would like to thank the people who campaigned for me."

Friends and family in Harlow had launched a campaign to get Cousins reinstated.

Cousins claimed there was favouritism by the BJA. "James Austin's coach is Billy Cusack and he is one of the selectors. When I was injured he picked up one medal in two-and-a-half years."

Dejected at missing out on the Olympics, he said: "There will be so much public interest and it would have been brilliant to have been a part of it. "It would have been brilliant to have represented my country and Harlow. Harlow has a bad name, but it is full of genuine, lovely people."

He added: "It's a bitter end to a pleasing career."

Cousins has not ruled out going for the Commonwealth Games at Glasgow in 2014 but added: "It is difficult to combine training for that and doing a career in something like the police or fire service."

Cousins suffered heartache with an early exit in the Beijing Olympics and had hoped to make amends in the capital in August.

Reconstructive knee surgery and a shoulder injury had left him on the sidelines for much of the last two years, but he has been in superb form this year.

Cousins was also disappointed for Pitman. He said: "The other girl beat her at the British Open, but Faith has got more world points and international results than the other girl at the time of the selection. It's heartbreaking for her."

Pitman had needed to beat her close rival Gemma Howell in the final of the British Championships earlier this year, but returned with the silver medal.

However, there was a GB call-up for Edinburgh-based Sally Conway.

Her father Mark runs The Edge Martial Arts Studios in The Stow, Harlow.

But British Judo will surely regret its decision to snub Cousins.

Osagie seals spot at 2012 Games

"All I wanted to do was come here and win and I've don't that, so I'm happy."

Osagie, of Northbrooks in Harlow, is quietly confident about his medal chances in London.

"Every championships I go to I'm looking for a medal, whether or not that happens is up to me."

"I'm going to give it my all just like I always do and if that gets me a medal that will be a bonus."

"You can't help, but be excited to be representing Britain. That's the whole point of it. The whole crowd here in Birmingham it's a big crowd, a great crowd, they're so supportive so I can imagine what it's going to be like in London."

Proudly wearing his Harlow Athletic Club vest for the race, he said: "Thank you everyone back home in Harlow family and friends anyone who has supported over all these years on my journey to the Olympics."

"Now I can say - 'yes I'm going!'"

"I'm going to give it my all - if I win I win, if I don't I don't."

Nightmare journey hinders Watts in Trials

FACED against the likes of Great Britain Olympians Christian Malcolm and Marlon Devonish, Harlow-born sprinter Sam Watts failed to make the 200m final at the Olympic Trials.

Watts had endured a nightmare journey up to the event in Birmingham as the car he was travelling in broke down.

A pick-up truck eventually escorted him to Birmingham after waiting two hours on a grass verge.

Watts' mother Pam said: "Bit stressful as you can imagine."

The former Leventhorpe School student then struggled to find his top form in the heat.

He has battled to overcome an ankle injury that hindered his winter training and has had a knock-on effect on his performance this summer.

Rain marred Watts' heat on what was otherwise a sunny day at the event in Birmingham on Sunday.

He was third in his heat in a time of 21.36s, still failing to break that elusive 21-second barrier.

This time was not quick enough to make it through to the final.

James Ellington won this heat and went on to win in the final, nailing a spot in the Great Britain team for the Olympics.

Ellington made headlines when he 'sold himself' on eBay for about £30,000 to help him pay for his coaching and training.

Christian Malcolm came second in the final and also qualified for the Olympics. Devonish was 4th and has not qualified for the Olympics, neither did Watts' friend Danny Talbot who came third.

Stars earn their Spurs at charity game

TWO-times FA Cup winner Tony Galvin joined Spurs stars from the 1980s and '90s who rolled back the years as they turned out in Harlow among a star-studded legends side against Alemite Athletic on Sunday.

Winger Galvin played in the 1981 and 1982 FA Cup Finals for Tottenham Hotspur.

Midfielder David Howells, part of the last Tottenham side to win the FA Cup in 1991, also played.

The match was held at Paringdon Sports Club to raise hundreds of pounds for the Cystic Fibrosis Trust.

including defender Chris Perry, who joined Tottenham Hotspur for a seven-figure transfer fee from Wimbledon in 1999, and former England international Andy Sinton were joined by the likes of John Lacy, Stuart Nethercott and Paul McVeigh in a 2-2 draw against the Hertford & District ORC League outfit.

"It was absolutely tremendous, it really was a great day, and thanks to everyone for turning out," beamed Alemite boss Peter Lucia.

"It was an absolute pleasure to play the Spurs boys and it meant a lot to us as a club. It was a nice atmosphere and a special day."

Due to the sheer number of players wanting to pit their wits against the team of ex-White Hart Lane stars, Lucia fielded three different teams for 30-minute spells over the 90 minutes.

"Everyone that went on for us has played for Alemite in the past or present and it was nice for the older ones to get their boots on again," Lucia added.

Alemite's youngsters started the game and spent the opening stages camped in Tottenham's half as they used their pace to frustrate their older visitors.

Alemite duly took the lead on 10 minutes when James Thomas' effort went in via the outstretched leg of Howells.

Dalby somehow kept out a close-range header from McVeigh at his near post, while Perry headed the ball off his own line twice in quick succession as Alemite continued to apply pressure at the other end.

Micky Jarrett levelled for Spurs four minutes before the break, and within eight minutes of the start of the second period, the game had been turned on its head as McVeigh set up Sinton to put the Legends ahead.

Sinton hit the outside of a post on 73 minutes, but it was Alemite who completed the scoring when Chris Bullock headed home Gavin Cockman's corner from close range eight minutes from time.

"It was a very good day, and we're very pleased. We also raised some money for charity, the Cystic Fibrosis Trust," added Lucia.

The event raised £600.

London's calling!

Brilliant Osagie seals spot at 2012 Games

ANDREW Osagie simply blew his rivals away as he ensured he was the first 800m runner to qualify for the Great Britain team and make his Olympic Games debut in London in August.

Proudly wearing his Harlow Athletic Club vest, Osagie left the country – and millions watching live on BBC2 – in no doubt that he has a great chance of capturing a medal for Britain in the Olympics.

The 24-year-old romped home in first place in 1 minute 46.89 seconds, nearly a second ahead of second-placed Mukhtar Mohammed (1.47.52) at the Olympic Trials in Birmingham.

Osagie, from Northbrooks in Harlow, kicked on with 150 metres to go and his closest rival over the last few years, the European Championships 2010 silver medallist Michael Rimmer, simply could not compete with his speed and power. Delight was etched on Osagie's face as he flicked a 'V' for victory sign as he crossed the line.

Osagie, now World No.7, said afterwards: "It has been completely different this year to last year. The pressure was on Michael [Rimmer] last year, but this year it has been on me. All you can take from these races is experience. Sometimes you have a good race, sometimes you have a bad race.

"At the moment I am learning from that. I can just put myself in the position where I can do well. This is different to any other championships. There is big pressure."

He also had praise for his fans, friends and family back home in Harlow. "I just want to say thank you to all my friends and family back home in Harlow. Thanks to everyone for your support," he said.

Osagie has enjoyed a phenomenal

2012 where he has built on his progress over the last two years.

This culminated in a bronze medal at the World Indoor Championships in Turkey earlier this year.

At Birmingham he was behind Welshman Gareth Warburton, but remained in second place throughout after a bumpy start when Mohammed was forcefully pushed by the Harlow man and Rimmer.

Osagie went into the lead just past the halfway point. However, it was his turn of pace with 150m to go which his rivals simply could not compete with.

He even had time to look over his shoulder yards from the home straight to tell him what everyone else already knew – that he was going to the Olympics for the first time ever.

None of the other Great Britain hopefuls in Sunday's final had managed to crack the Olympic qualifying standard time, so Osagie is the only 800m runner to definitely get the OK for August.

Harlow athlete shows pressure's no burden

ANDREW Osagie admitted he was feeling the pressure but it clearly did not have any impact on his race as he qualified for the Olympic Games in style at Birmingham on Sunday.

"There was a lot of pressure on this weekend not just on me but anyone trying to make the team I'm glad I was in the position coming into these trials where I had the A standard the only thing that worried me was the little red number I had on my front and back [the red indicates rankings leader]. I'm pleased to have won.

"To come away with the win was the next step – to go to the Olympics. I needed to cope with the pressure and make the team."

His time of 1 minute 46.89 seconds was nearly a second quicker than his nearest rival. Speaking to the Star after the race, he said: "I feel really good, I've ran and won the race. I've only won two races this year in 2012, believe it or not, one was yesterday and one was today."

The Harlow Athletic Club member will now take a three-week break before his next race, which will be just a couple of weeks before he represents Great Britain in Stratford in front of a hopeful home nation at his Olympics debut.

"I've got three weeks now before my next race in Crystal Palace. I'll try and get some training in, that was always the plan," he explained.

"I've kind of trained through these Champs, then [I'll] train through Crystal Palace and hopefully improve my time at Crystal Palace."

Cousins furious at Olympic snub

JUDO player Peter Cousins was furious with the British Judo Association after he was surprisingly left out of the team for this summer's Olympic Games in London.

Faith Pitman – the partner of Peter's twin brother Thomas – was also snubbed in the U-63kg category.

Thirty-one-year-old Cousins – who competed in the U-100kg event at the Beijing Olympics in 2008 – had battled back from injury and an operation and had high hopes of making the showpiece, but missed out to fellow Englishman James Austin, based in Edinburgh.

Cousins had defeated Austin in the final of the British Open in May – the second time he had comprehensively beaten his rival in the last five months.

Cousins said: "I beat James Austin when I won the British Open in Crawley the day before the selection and I won the trials in Sheffield in January."

"I also beat James Austin four times in European events."

"It's the wrong decision. I should be going and it hurts a lot not to be in the home games. The
